City would have trouble affording a sewer plant

PLEASANTON — The notion of the city building its own sewer plant is attractive, but it's doubtful the city can afford it, Councilmen William Herlihy and Ken Mercer said yesterday.

The two council members discussed the notion with a Times reporter yesterday in the light of the two choices which are open to the city in solving its future sewer problems. One alternative is to merge all Pleasanton sewage into the Valley Community Services District plant, which has been the game plan to date. The other choice is for the city to build its own sewer plant, an idea first raised a few years ago on the city council.

Mayor Robert Philcox sees some advantages to Pleasanton going it alone, for example the savings of $3 million or more over building a long pipeline from the Sunol Boulevard treatment plant to the VCSD plant. The big advantage of a local plant would be direct control of sewer connections by the city, said Philcox.

Working through the VCSD plant is not necessarily encouraging, he noted. The city had to sue VCSD to get the VCSD board to agree to any expansion.

"It's attractive for the city to control its own growth rate, but the city can't afford a bond election to build its own plant," was Herlihy's estimation of a city - built plant. The city has $8 million worth of bonding capacity and it would be used up entirely by construction of a new plant, said Herlihy.

If the city felt it had strong needs in park improvements, fire station construction, or decided it would have to pay all costs for the Las Positas overcrossing, there wouldn't be any bonding capacity for those projects, said Herlihy.

Mercer agreed that the economics are prohibitive. "I don't think the city and its taxpayers can take the $10 million estimated to build a city plant. We don't have that much bonding capacity."

"The question is: do we want to use up all of our bonding capacity just to build our plant or can we get 87 percent of it from the federal government by going to the VCSD plant," said Mercer.

Engineers make finding

'Super sewer' size pegged

LIVERMORE — Bolstered by engineering reports that show a smaller sized pipeline to be more "cost effective," the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWA) last night reaffirmed its intention to build an effluent disposal pipeline sized for average daily sewage flow with supplementary holding ponds for peak periods.

The action flew in the face of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors who last week told the valley's joint powers agency that they would attempt to delay the project if the pipeline was not sized for peak demand flows.

John Carollo Engineers, LAVWA's engineering consultant, last night presented a comparison of costs for the average and peak flow pipeline. Technically, both sized pipes can do the job, said William Knopf, Carollo consultant. But the average flow system is more economical from the standpoint of both initial and annual costs, he said.

Knopf said a 24- to 30-inch diameter pipe with standby surge ponds for peak periods would accommodate LAVWA's anticipated 21 million - gallons - per - day by 1998. This average flow pipeline would cost an estimated $21,931,000 to build and $257,000 per year for power costs.

The county has been pushing for a peak flow pipeline with an additional 8 million - gallons - per - day industrial capacity reserved for county use. A peak flow system, according to Knopf, sized from 30 to 36 inches in diameter would cost $25,679,000 to build. Power costs per year would be $308,000, 20 per cent more than the average flow system.

Knopf reported that the federal and state governments will fund 87.5 per cent of a cost effective pipeline. But if LAVWA were to select the less cost effective peak flow system, they would fund only 87.5 per cent of the cost of the smaller system. The difference would have to be made up by local agencies.

Pleasanton's LAVWA delegate Mayor Robert Philcox urged the board to adopt the Pleasanton City Council's position that the pipe be sized for peak flow.

In selecting an average flow system, Philcox said, "we're telling people 10 years down the road how to live and I object to that." He said the county should be allowed its share in the pipeline, but he added, "they should pay for it themselves."

To underscore its decision, LAVWA voted to reiterate its position to the supervisors. Philcox and Ken Mercer of Pleasanton opposed the action.

In a point-by-point analysis LAVWA chairwoman Lila Euler rejected the supervisors' argument for a larger pipeline. A peak flow system, she noted, would be more expensive.

Responding to the supervisors' contention that an additional 8 mgd capacity would yield a $1.64 million savings, Euler noted the county has "not established a sound basis for the 8 mgd additional waste water flow. Beyond that they have not developed an equitable financing program, nor have they developed an air quality mitigation program for the additional population to be served."

Valley voters in November must approve revenue bonds for 12.5 per cent of the costs of the pipeline, Euler noted. She warned, "such limited planning could assure voter disapproval." —By Karen Boyle

Las Positas overcrossing

Delegation to attend big hearing

PLEASANTON — A local delegation will attend what Assemblyman Floyd Mori called "the most important hearing" directed to getting the state to fund a big portion of the Las Positas overcrossing Wednesday.

Councilman Ken Mercer and citizens Jim Jordan, Wally Mayer, Jr., and Don Savery will testify to the city's need for state funding of the overpass before the Assembly transportation committee at 1:30 p.m. in Sacramento.

Mori said the hearing next Wednesday is "the critical element" in getting approval of the bill. But even if the committee does approve the Mori - sponsored bill, it still must pass the Assembly ways and means committee and the Senate's transportation and finance committees as well as floor votes in both houses.

If the bill runs the gauntlet successfully, the governor could have it on his desk in a month at the earliest, said Mori.

Mercer told The Times that the delegation will rely heavily on the state's promise in 1971 to fund the overpass. The overpass is needed for safety reasons, said Mercer. It would speed up response time for emergency vehicles traveling from the two sides of Interstate 680 and it would also help pedestrian safety. As it is now, young people have been observed running across the freeway or through a culvert under the freeway, both dangerous occupations, said Mercer.

Savery, who presented the city council last year with 87 signatures on a petition calling for fast action on the overpass, felt safety is paramount. It takes eight minutes for fire engines to travel from the Highland Oaks station to his Val Vista home, said Savery.

Murder in Barracks Three

Inmate stabbed, killed in Santa Rita shower

PLEASANTON — A 27-year-old inmate of Santa Rita Jail's medium security barracks was stabbed twice and then bludgeoned to death in the shower area of barracks number three Wednesday afternoon.

Lester Nelson, alias Michael McDaniel of 1530 Sixth Ave. in Oakland, was found in a pool of blood about 4:30 Tuesday. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Santa Rita Jail's first murder victim, Michael McDaniel.

Sheriff Tom Houchins called a press conference yesterday morning but gave few details of the attack, the first reported homicide inside the controversial jail.

McDaniel was convicted of armed robbery and returned to the jail March 31 to await sentence. An Oakland court considering his sentence convened Tuesday but continued the case to next week.

McDaniel was returned to Santa Rita from the Oakland court about 2 p.m. His body was discovered by a deputy walking routine patrol in the shower area of barracks number three about 4:30 p.m.

Houchins said McDaniel was stabbed once in the throat and again in the chest, and then hit in the left side of the head with an eight - pound mop wringer. The sheriff wouldn't reveal whether a knife had been found, but said the mop wringer was recovered.

He would not speculate on a motive for the murder. Houchins discounted racial tension as a possible cause, saying that occasionally "the chicanos and blacks kind of flex their muscles," but no real trouble results.

Chief Howard Garrigan ruled out a gang war, saying the relatively short (42-day average) stay for an inmate precludes gangs from forming.

Houchins added that he had not heard of any trouble between McDaniel and other inmates prior to the murder.

The sheriff said he could see no connection of the murder to a protest by inmates last week over the food served at the jail. Several inmates had complained that too much stew was being served, he said.

Houchins said there were no racial overtones apparent in the attack, but then offered an ethnic breakdown of the inmates in barracks number three as follows: 78 blacks, 30 whites, 11 latinos, and two Asians.

A team of detectives is investigating the attack, and Houchins said all 121 inmates of the barracks would be interviewed. Chief Jack Baugh, heading up the investigation, was in meetings with department personnel all afternoon yesterday concerning the murder.

McDaniel listed his occupation as a student at Laney junior college in Oakland. His parents both live in Oakland.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by Palmer D. Whitted Mortuary in Oakland.

Cross-Valley pipeline

Zone asks more debate power

LIVERMORE — Worried that they may be left out of consideration on the size of the cross-valley effluent disposal pipeline, the Zone 7 Board of Directors voted unanimously Wednesday night to ask the Alameda County Board of Supervisors to let the zone know what's going on.

The supervisors and members of the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency have met recently to discuss LAVWA's pipeline project.

And Zone Director Joseph Concannon is concerned that the zone has been left out of the debate. "It takes two to tango," said Concannon, "and we've been left out of the dance."

In a letter to the supervisors, the zone notes that the supervisors and BASSA named Zone 7 lead agency for wastewater management in the valley.

Concannon argued, therefore, that communication from LAVWA should go through the zone to the supervisors.

"It's bad protocol not to route these discussions through Zone 7," said Concannon, "and I'm upset about it."

The zone's legal counsel, Kelvin Booty, noted that the board of supervisors wears two hats: one as the flood control district and one as county supervisors.

Chairman Harris said the zone needed to be informed in which capacity the supervisors intended to proceed.

"The County Counsel has interpreted the district act to require approval or concurrence of this board should the Flood Control District intend to generally participate in that project," Harris wrote.

"However, we are aware of government code sections which allow the County in certain special situations to expend available county funds for such a project," Harris noted.

"Someone has cut off the line of communication if the supervisors don't know of our interest in the pipeline," said zone Director George Lydixsen.

But Director Robert Becker disagreed. "We never discussed the LAVWA project as a board — the size of the pipeline or anything else as far as I can remember," he said.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Lydixsen, "the pipeline should be the size that gets the same amount of water out of the valley that we agreed in 1962 to bring into the valley."

"I object strenuously for this board to be used as a planning agency," Lydixsen said. "We're a public utility and that's that."

After the unanimous vote to send the letter, Harris said, "We want to find out which way they're going to go. I think the supervisors will get the message."

The Board of Supervisors will take up the LAVWA pipeline issue again next week at a public hearing on April 27.

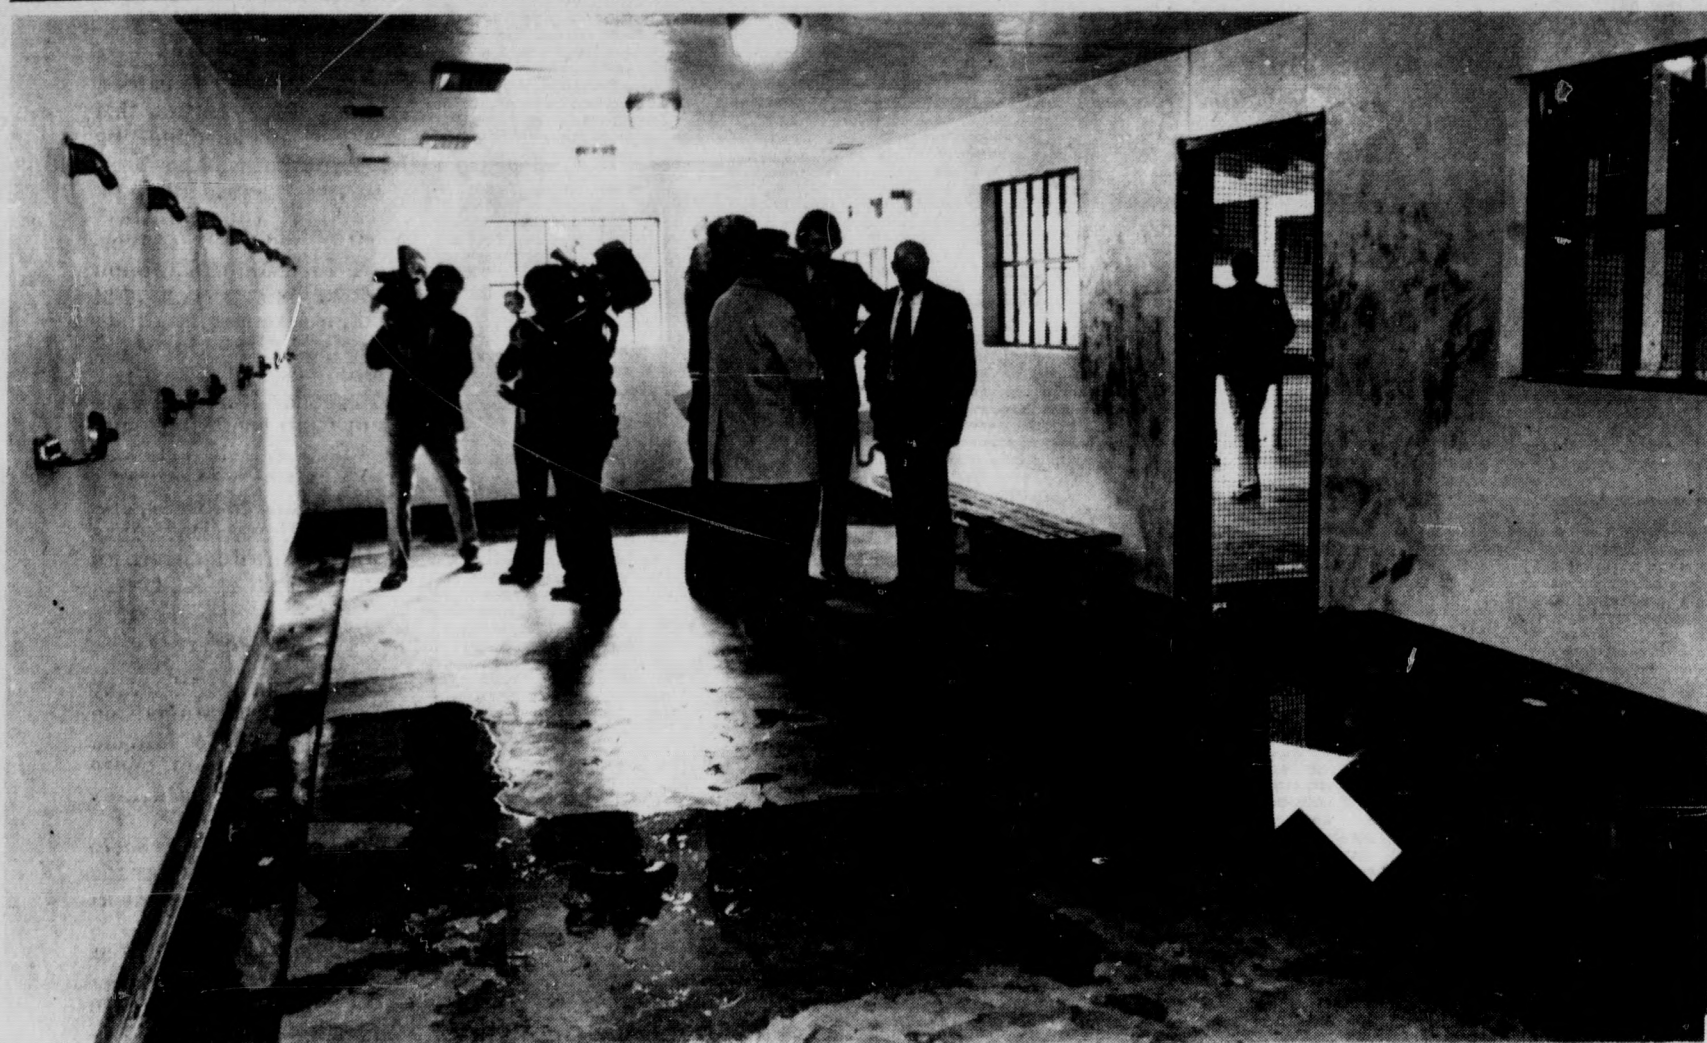

Time's a-changin'

It's later than you think — that is, it will be Sunday morning if you've forgotten to "Spring ahead" by setting your clock ahead one hour. Daylight Savings Time, AS Bob Potts of Pleasanton is learning, officially begins at 2 a.m. Sunday. Which means that 9 o'clock will come an hour earlier, ready or not.

The 'Fonz' is stuffed and well in SR

SAN RAMON — "Elsa" and "Little Fonz" are stuffed and doing fine, thank you, at Country Club School.

Elsa and Little Fonz are the winning names suggested by classes at the school for stuffed cougar and cougar cub mascots presented the school earlier this month by Stacy Jefferson.

The idea of obtaining replicas of the school mascot began several months ago in the class of Julie Davis. Children wrote letters to the owner of Jefferson Motors in Concord stating the school mascot was a cougar and they hoped to obtain a replica of same.

Jefferson responded by sending the children cougar patches and, later, the daughter of the owner came to a school assembly to present stuffed cougar mascots.

In the meantime, students were conducting a contest to name the two.

Winners were Mara Tompkins' third grade class for "Little Fonz" and the sixth graders of Miss Fornengo and Joe Cass for "Elsa."

The cougars are now on display in the office of the school at 7534 Blue Fox Way.

ECE plans may expand in district

The performance of Early Childhood Education students at Fairlands School could lead to establishment of similar programs at three other schools in the Pleasanton Joint School District.

At present, 394 K-3 students at the school are part of the program which tested overall at the 76th percentile, in comparison with all other school districts in the state having ECE classes.

Expansion is based on the performance of classes presently operating under ECE guidelines.

The consolidated application approved by the Pleasanton school district board Wednesday included $51,737 for continuation of ECE at Fairlands and $47,164 for establishment of ECE at Pleasanton School (two kindergarten classes), and K-3 students at Valley View School.

The district is also asking for an additional $11,000 to establish ECE classes for 140 students (of 224 total enrollment) at Vintage Hills.

Other parts of the consolidated application request funds for Title I, ESEA ($39,581), Title 4B, ESEA ($21,966), and the Miller/Unruh Reading Program ($56,600).

In other actions, the board approved a request for a May 22 overnight field trip for sixth grade students at Harvest Park who'll be going to Point Reyes National Seashore Park, and conducted a workshop on summer school curriculum with principal Dave Cook and staff members, including reading clinic teacher Bill Radulovich.

District decrees nudes must suit up

Climb back into your bathing suits, all you nude bathers!

The East Bay Regional Park District, overseers of Del Valle, Shadow Cliffs and Sunol Regional Parks as well as 26 other parks, is decreeing that anyone who is nude on the beach or in other public places is subject to six months in jail, a $500 fine or both.

The decision comes just before the May 1 opening of the swim season in EBRPD parks. It was occasioned by trouble last year at Lake Anza in Berkeley and Lake Temescal in Oakland where nude and clothed bathers got into conflicts.

EBRPD director Fred Blumberg of Lafayette thought nude bathers should move on to the coast, where there are a few private beaches allowing nudity.

EBRPD board president John J. Leavitt of Alameda and director Mary Lee Jeffers of Berkeley suggested the staff find a secluded spot where nude sunbathers could enjoy the outdoors without offending others.

EBRPD's tough new ordinance is based on a Los Angeles law which has stood up in court. Park police will be carrying a list of 11 specific anatomical items which may not be exposed, under threat of arrest. The list must be carried with them at all times just like handcuffs and guns.

Park district officials are anticipating "a sort of park and recreation Armageddon," according to public relations writer Monty Montague. The police force is planning an all-out beach "cleanup" on an undisclosed date.

'The Joyful Sound' present cantata at Parkway Baptist

DUBLIN — "The Joyful Sound" will present the cantata "Alleluia" at this Sunday's evening worship service, 7 p.m., at Parkway Baptist Church, 7485 Village Parkway.

In rehearsal for the past six months, the "Joyful Sound," as Parkway's youth call themselves, will praise the Lord with drums, guitars, trumpets, organ, piano and song as they interpret this adult cantata.

April 23, 7:30 p.m., Parkway will sponsor a Youth Revival featuring youth evangelist, Richard Hastings. Just two years ago, Richard was involved in the drug scene and faced a lengthy prison sentence.

This Sunday is Orthodox Easter

The Orthodox Christian celebration of Easter is usually held at a later date than the denominations of the West (Roman Catholic and Protestant), and this year it falls on Sunday, April 25. The Western celebration, held last Sunday, is based on the Roman Church and the solar calendar and coincides with the Jewish celebration of Passover.

According to the Orthodox Church, they continue to follow the ancient tradition of the Church begun in Jerusalem which they say states that Easter must always occur after the Jewish Passover as, they claim, it did during the life of Christ, and is based on the lunar calendar.

St. Michael the Archangel Mission which meets temporarily in the United Methodist Chapel, 1543 Sunnyvale Ave., Walnut Creek, has been celebrating Holy Week this week. There will be two services today, identified by the Orthodox Church as "Great, Good and Holy Friday." At 2 p.m. Vespers will be served and at 7 p.m. the Matins.

Orthodox usually celebrate the Easter service on the Saturday eve of Easter. Those wishing to go to Confession may come at 10:30 p.m. The service will begin at 11:30 p.m.

The Orthodox faith prefers to call Easter "Pascha" because the word "pascha" in Greek means "to pass over," just as does the Hebrew word.

Early in the history of the Old Testament Moses "passed over" from Egypt to safety with Israel. Later in Christian history our Lord and God and Saviour Jesus Christ "passed over" from the death of the Crucifixion to the life of the Resurrection. It is this Feast of the Resurrection that we so gloriously celebrate on Easter morning with joyous hymns, festal dress and table, and the emphatic exclamation: "Christ is risen from the dead, trampling down death by death, and upon those in the tomb bestowing life."

When we enter an Orthodox Church on the Saturday eve of Easter, we notice many interesting things. In the center of the church is a representation of the tomb of Christ surrounded by flowers. The church is dark. Someone is quietly reading the Acts of the Apostles near the tomb. As the time approaches mid-night a quiet service begins and the priest brings out a candle from the altar from which everyone lights their own candle. The small, quiet flame that flickered on the altar is now brightly illuminating the entire church through the many individual candles. This represents how the Light of Christ can illumine all men. One can actually feel the excitement as the time of the Resurrection approaches.

At this time the procession, led by the choir and the priest, begins around the church. Everyone with their candles proceeds around the church as the bells are slowly rung — thus representing the Myrrh-bearing women who went to anoint Christ's body on Easter morning. The procession stops at the front doors of the church and the priest knocks on the doors with the processional cross, symbolizing how the Crucifixion opened the way to the Resurrection. As the doors of the church burst open, behold the tomb is gone from the center and the flowers have been moved to surround the altar. The empty tomb indicates the Resurrection of Christ; and the priest exclaims to the people, "Christ is Risen!" and they answer, "Indeed He is Risen!"

Lynnewood Methodist

PLEASANTON — "Even Now You Are Happy," is the title of the Rev. J. Howard Acton's sermon for this Sunday, at Lynnewood United Methodist Church, 4444 Black Ave., in Pleasanton. It is taken from I Peter 1:3-8, the epistle reading for the day. It is rather remarkable that these early Christians considered themselves happy, considering what they were going through.

The service begins at 10:40 a.m., following Sunday School for all ages at 9:30. Carol Edney is back as leader of the high school class after a leave of absence and extends a cordial invitation to all high school students to come and enjoy the hour.

Evangelical

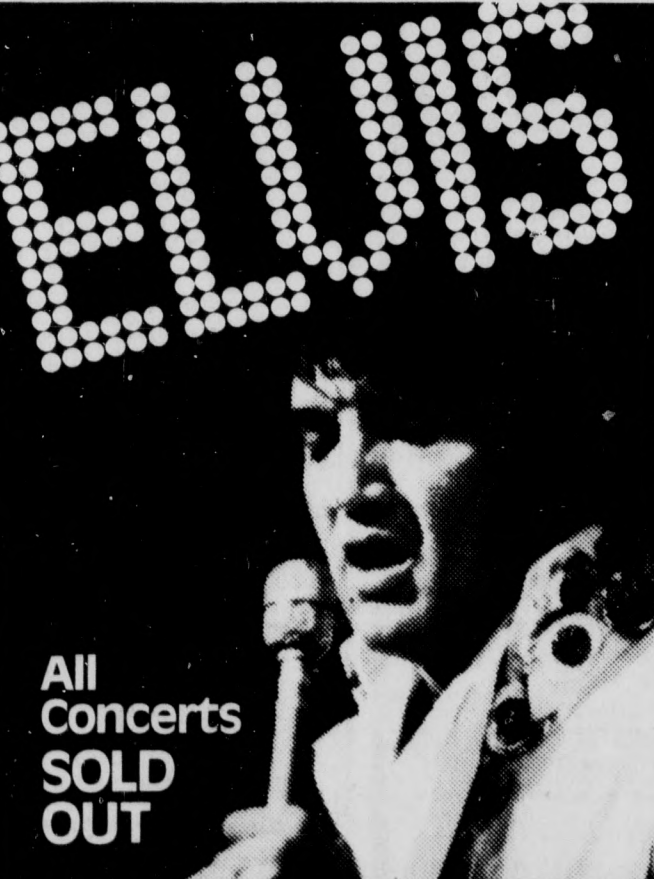

PLEASANTON — There was no Easter for Thomas, one of the Lord's disciples. Thomas was missing. When the others told Thomas about the Resurrection, he evidenced the same skepticism that many of us struggle with. This coming Sunday, the pastor of the Evangelical Free Church, Merle Aaker, will be speaking about "Thomas... the Realist" at the 11 a.m. service.

Sunday evening there will be a farewell reception for a number of church families who are moving from the area. The fellowship hour will be at 7 p.m. and held in the multipurpose room of the Valley View School, Adams Way, in Pleasanton. The reception will follow immediately.

St. Clare

PLEASANTON — Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at the 10 a.m. family worship service on Sunday at St. Clare's Episcopal Church, 339 Rose Ave. The sermon will be given by St. Clare's seminarian, Bob Moore. Nursery care is provided, and the service is followed by a coffee hour. Holy Communion will be celebrated at the 8 a.m. service.

A wine and cheese tasting party will be held on May 1 at the home of Allen Casamajor. Everyone is invited. For information call the church at 443-1145.

'Prayer Power'

DUBLIN — The John Knox Presbyterian Church at 7421 Amarillo Rd. will conduct two seminars on Prayer. The first one to be held Friday evening April 30 from 7:30 until 9:30. The second to be presented on Saturday morning, May 1, from 9 to 12 noon.

Topics to be presented are Prayer: Alternate to Worry; Prayer and Coincidences; Guidelines for Prayer; and Some Questions About Prayer.

The seminar on prayer will be conducted by Dr. Cary N. Weisiger III, an adjunct teacher in contemporary ministry at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo and retired pastor of the Menlo Park Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Jim Griffes invites the public to attend either one or both seminars. There will be no admission charge.

United Methodist

DUBLIN — Pastor Wayne Kessel of United Methodist Church will have as his sermon this Sunday, "Fishermen and Shepherders." It is based on John 21.

Services and church school classes begin at 8:45 a.m. A coffee fellowship follows at 9:45 a.m. The MYF will meet at the chapel at 7:30 Sunday evening.

Valley United Methodist Church is located at Camp Parks in Dublin. Please try to come and worship with us.

Open House

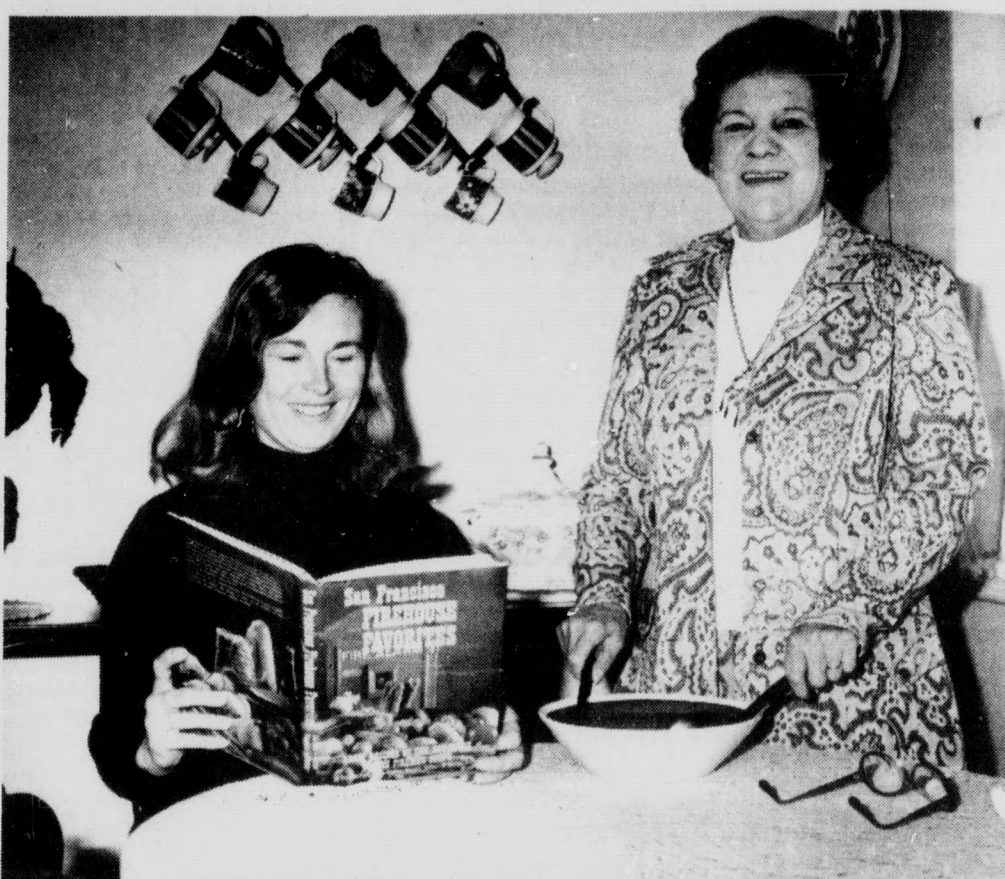

An open house honoring Sisters M. Romayne, O. P. and Katherine Emery O. P. (formerly Sister M. Xavier), upon the occasion of their Golden Jubilee as Dominican Sisters and faculty members of twenty-five years, will be held on Sunday afternoon, April 25, from 2 to 5 p.m. at Bishop O'Dowd High School.

DUBLIN — Young volunteers from St. Raymond's Parish in Dublin - San Ramon will be knocking on doors this Saturday on a community-wide food collection drive for the needy sponsored by the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

The food is kept stored at St. Raymond's parish and is used throughout the year and on holidays to fill the needs of those requesting supplementary or emergency help. This help is not limited to the members of the parish. Anyone in need may call the rectory (828-2460) and request help.

The men and women of St. Vincent de Paul meet weekly and discuss the many requests they receive. Usually they visit the family and assess their needs in a personal manner. They work in close cooperation with the Children's Emergency Council, The Catholic Daughters of America and local welfare agencies in an effort to reach all people within the parish boundaries.

Your contribution will go to help someone in your community regardless of creed. Adults and children are invited to help walk about two hours Saturday. Call Joe Barratt, 828-2719 to volunteer. Everyone works in teams with adult supervision.

Missionaries to speak

DUBLIN — Mr. Dave Neighbor and his wife, Linda, will be bringing the message to the 9:30 a.m. service of worship this second Sunday in Easteride at John Knox United Presbyterian Church in Dublin. Dave is assistant to the Dean of Students at Bethany Bible College and preparing for the Gospel Ministry. He and his wife will be serving as missionary interns this summer in Japan helping to further a ministry to military personnel stationed in the Okinawa area. Dave's parents, Dick and Melva Neighbor are members of John Knox Church. The pastor and Session of the congregation invite the public to the worship hour to hear this dynamic young preacher. His theme will be "The Secret of Victory!"

The Sunday evening worship "Corinthian Celebration" will take place at 6 p.m. emphasizing the early Christian church tradition of dance. "Dance: A Way to Celebrate the Triumphant in Christian Life" is the theme and purpose of this evening service to be led by Cindy Pleasant, seminarian at John Knox Church, and the liturgical dancers. Lively singing and participation in the dances is open to the congregation and the public is invited.

Church school classes for children and youth meet at 10 a.m., and adult education classes at 10:30 a.m. Child care is provided during both the morning and evening services.

CDA Supper

Roberta Dick and Isabel Byrne, members of Ct. St Monica No 1117, of Catholic Daughters of America, bone up on some of their favorite casserole recipes for their pot-luck supper planned for this evening at the Pleasanton Garden's Community Room at 6:30 p.m. The cost is $2 per person and all proceeds will go for the Court's charities.

Want a finer lawn? Then read this!

Warren's research facilities, established twenty years ago, have under observation over 1,000 strains and species of grasses. Some of these grasses have been patented and are available to the public in various parts of the United States and Europe.

About ten years ago one of these new grasses...

BenSun (A-34)
KENTUCKY BLUEGRASS

...was introduced into California. Its performance has proven to be outstanding for these reasons:

- Rated first in shade tolerance (up to 65%) yet grows vigorously in full sunlight.
- Rated first in wear tolerance by a university doing turfgrass research. (Of eighteen top bluegrasses tested, for golf course use, BenSun (A-34) was the only grass to receive an excellent rating.)
- Quick to recover when injured and is used extensively on athletic fields and golf courses.
- Does well in most soils, and is highly drought resistant.
- Thrives in hot or cold climates, at high or low altitudes.
- Requires less fertilizer to keep it healthy.
- Can be mowed down to 1/2 inch when planted in sunlight.
- One pound of seed will plant 2,000 sq. ft. of new lawn area at a cost of only 1/4¢ per square foot.
- BenSun (A-34) Lawngrass Seed carries this guarantee: "If you are not satisfied with the results obtained from this seed, return the empty box with proof of purchase within 6 months to Warren's Turf Nursery, Inc. You will be supplied with more seed or your money will be refunded, your choice".

Available as Sod, Sod Plugs and Seed!

To keep your lawn green and healthy use WARREN'S LAWN FOOD, specially formulated (10-8-4 analysis for proper balance) to give your lawn the proper food nutrients. Use the lawn food the grass professionals use.

Freedom of the classroom

Two items of recent disclosure seem to stress the divergency of public opinion in this country. They also explain some of the challenge that exists just within this suburban community.

The first was a wire service report which advised us that "a new survey indicates most Americans want morality taught in the classroom." That is startling if only because we had been led to believe — mostly by "modern" classroom teachers and "enlightened" school board members — that such old-fashioned ideas as prayer, discipline and flag saluting no longer belong in the public school.

But if we are to remove all suggestion of spiritual and national allegiance from the classroom, what is there left to reflect the "teaching of morality" which most of us are supposed to favor?

Then there are our legislators. No one is more "enlightened" than an elected servant, particularly when that servitude is somewhat removed from the electorate.

State Senator Alan Robbins is an enlightened attorney, from Los Angeles. It's pretty hard to beat a combination like that. Senator Robbins has legislation pending (SB 2120) that would broaden the "right of free speech by students" on the campus, in the classroom, and particularly in assemblies and in student publications.

In essence, Robbins would seek to place on the local school board the burden of proof "prior to any limitation of student expression."

Personally, we can't say we object to the Robbins' bill, but then again we found no problem with existing laws as they pertain to student rights and school administration responsibilities therein. Understanding is the key, either way.

It all suggests that we are a nation far from settled on such matters as morality, freedom, responsibility... even in the confines of the classroom. It also means these are values still open to debate, and that, in the final analysis, is perhaps the best sign of all.

Zone 7 power

Who runs the town? For the two Valley communities that now embrace municipal government — and two more that appear to be toying with the idea — there is little doubt that "city hall is where the action is."

It is to the city government that we give the power, demand the service, pay the taxes, look for direction. Even where some of those roles are now played by a County Board of Supervisors, the people understand who runs what.

There are power plays underway that could change all that. The name of the game today is "control the Valley's sewer and water systems, and you control the land... along with everything else."

That is the potential that some see for the Zone 7 Water Conservation and Flood Control District. A little-known board of directors could wind up in the driver's seat for some 500 square miles of Valley land. They could have a veto that would make the land-use actions of a city council, or even a board of supervisors, an exercise in futility.

We agree with those who suggest that "one sewer agency to serve all the Valley" might clear up that muddled and tiresome picture. We even agree that "Zone 7 is the one agency that has the built-in jurisdiction to establish such a sewer district."

But the people have yet to give Zone 7 that kind of authority. The people haven't even begun to understand what is involved, the costs, the opportunity for final and unappealable power — vested in just seven members of a "water board."

There are those among us who already see the potential for such power. That is why "important political people" are running for three vacancies on that Zone 7 board. And that is why the people should pay close attention, in the campaigning that leads up to that June 8 ballot.

No vote on Prop. 15

Editor, The Times:

This letter of Mr. John McClure which appeared in your paper April 14, is one of the most incredibly ignorant letters I've read for some time...

Proposition 15 is a Nuclear Shutdown Initiative. Make no mistake, the "hard look" referred to, means stop a source of safe, clean, abundant, and cheap electric power. If this power source is stopped, it is the first step backwards into a labor intensive society. This is exactly what the proponents of Proposition 15 want.

As far as radioactive waste being dangerous — Yes it is dangerous, but also beneficial. In 1976, about 10,000,000 people in the United States will be injected with radioisotopes produced by nuclear reactors for medical diagnostic purposes. The radioisotopes are used to detect early stages of Cancer in bone, lung, breast, lymphatic system, liver, colon, and the brain. Several of the radioisotopes once considered waste are currently used beneficially.

Mr. McClure's concern for future generations is no less than mine. Since the year 1900, we have used up about one-half of the known oil reserves and are using it at an even increasing rate. I want to leave my children a legacy of power technology that will at least allow them the standard of living that exists in the United States today. — Vote No on 15.

Sound and Fury
Walt Hecox

The year was 1934 and I was working my way through college on the gridiron at San Jose State, a tough task considering that Dr. Mc Quarrie, president of the institution, had offered free room and board to any player who made the team.

Bread and beans were not easy to come by in the middle thirties and the response to the good educator's offer was sensational if not entirely satisfactory.

Among those who matriculated to Washington Square was one Fran Pura, a 160 pound streak of greased lightning who was a member of the varsity team which had come within ten yards of taking a halftime lead over Stanford's Vow boys.

The upperclassmen were scrimmaging with the frosh and Pura took the ball on one of those double reverses invented by Pop Warner some years earlier.

They were plays which were designed for deception by the man who maintained "the best defense is a good offense" but they gave a lineman one hell of a shot at the ball carrier if he could get past a minimum convoy of blockers and he saw the routine developing.

I had managed both and was on a collision course with Pura when the scaback swerved toward the rear and safety.

He was more than 12 yards behind the line of scrimmage and about to get away when I left my feet and reached for his flying body in a final, desperate lunge.

I caught his shoulder pad with my left hand as he passed and hung on.

We parted company then, though not completely I kept the back half of the pad and jersey and continued my headlong plunge, falling eventually to the warm grass.

Pura proceeded in the other direction but not for long. He tumbled to the turf and rolled over and over, coughing, sputtering and gasping all the way.

I waited for the praise I thought must surely be coming I had thrown the star varsity halfback for a 10 yard plus loss, hadn't I?

Dudley DeGroot, the San Jose coach and a disciple of Warner, did not view the situation in exactly that light.

He dashed to the side of Pura and then, having satisfied himself his bread and butter runner would live, turned to me.

First he suggested in no uncertain terms I was the product of canine ancestry.

Then he snarled in an anguished and outraged voice, "You tackled high in high school but no (at this point he inserted another reference to my doggie background) is going to tackle high for me. Now get out on that track and run until I tell you to stop."

It was dark and the fellows had all dressed and were standing beside the running track cheering me on when Dud decided I had atoned for my sin and allowed me to shower and change to street clothes.

Life is like that for some folks. Dud got a little

Murray's jigsaw

Robert Foster, a Murray School District trustee, has provided considerable data on the subject of what state boards look for when considering applications for school building funds.

In reviewing some of this data, we do not mean to overlook the efforts made and data provided by other members of the Murray district family.

Also, as stated in these columns a couple of weeks ago, this paper cannot dispatch data concerning past bond elections to the cobwebs of some outdated file.

But Foster has chosen to come at the problem that is most current and vital to the district, bond elections and actions of the past aside.

In detailing what the state looks at, Foster told fellow board members earlier this month the experiences of other Southern Alameda County school districts, namely San Lorenzo, where schools had been closed down because of declining enrollment.

Foster commented that people who could afford new houses did not have children and even if the Murray district did get growth, it might be limited to 2 to 4 per cent a year and would occur on the Pleasanton side of Highway 580.

He said he wanted to get the facts, as he and the state saw them, on the table so residents of the district could decide what should be done.

Residents will now have that opportunity (in addition to expressing their feelings at regular board meetings) at meetings of the soon-to-be-convened citizens fact-finding group on seventh-eighth grade housing.

While looking over the following figures, readers should also be mindful of a proposition on the state ballot this June which would make $200 million available to school districts at 5.4 per cent interest for leasing of portables.

Though portables can never match what Murray had planned for the Dolan school site in Silvergate, the district now finds itself in a position where such a proposition could be of ultimate advantage.

The figures presented by Foster deal with enrollments at district schools in September of 1972 — as compared with the first of this year.

Cronin has dropped 100 to 322 in a little more than three years. Enrollment declines or increases for other district schools are as follows: Donlon, up 144 to 1,277; Dublin, down 117 to 559; Fallon, down 85 to 338; Frederiksen, down 155 to 466; Lydiksen, up 10 to 756; Murray, down 101 to 367; Nielsen, down 99 to 581; Wells, up 30 to 719.

The following figures are square footage. The state formula for square footage is 55 square feet for each student in grades K-6 and 75 square feet per student in grades 7-8.

At six of the nine district schools, the actual square footage is over the state allotted square footage — most by a large amount such as at Fallon, Frederiksen and Murray.

Donlon is way under the allowed amount (49,185 square feet actual compared to 73,515 permitted) Lydiksen is 11,000 sq. ft. under and Wells approximately 9,600 sq. ft. under.

The latter figures mean that school building square footage could be increased at these schools... however, when you add up the square footage for ALL district schools (plus 18,000 for the portables) the figure comes out 44,500 over the state allotted amount.

Thus, Murray finds itself in a situation where it will have to think about moving bodies before it can even consider any construction.

In future columns, as the citizens panel organizes, we will delve farther into the circumstances of past and present.

Letters to the Times

Poor image

Editor, The Times:

Recent articles in different papers, including yours, re: speeding on East Avenue, point out a growing problem in Livermore's stage-of-growing-pains. To practically every such article written by members of the citizenry, there are instant-breakfast-sophisticated answers, but seldom do they hit at the heart of the problem — or lay the groundwork for a citizen-involved and inspired solution.

Obviously, "water-faucet-push-button" solutions to human problems are not solving anything in Livermore, or anywhere else, for that matter. More and more, people are crying out for government at all levels to dispatch human problems — speeding, harassment of citizens, drugs, property destruction and damage, crime, generally and specifically, as though some mysterious power-figure called government can take care of the situation.

In a community as intellectually superior as this one is purported to be, it shouldn't be hard to understand that human problems, like good government, must be based on human involvement. When humans complain about the status quo, but show little-to-no interest in cooperating to solve community problems, I sometimes wonder about that level of reasoning. Getting more policemen is a partial answer, perhaps, but it doesn't cure the cancer at the basis of the original problem.

Those of us who work in the field of education are made accountable under the law (Stull Bill) for our actions and progress made with students in our care. I am forthwith recommending to State of California lawmakers that the Stull Bill be immediately amended to include that parents, too, should be made legally accountable for their youngster's actions under the law. After all, that child "is the parent's baby!" Some adults set a mighty poor image for youngsters to follow: from the classroom of the home can come good or bad attitudes, beneficial values, or a sad lack of same. Thank God, most kids are good kids.

In this Centennial Year, we might take a long, hard look at examining what Democracy really means. To some, it means one can do precisely as he or she wants to do. To the long suffering rest of us, it means we are harassed in our daily lives by the small percentage of selfish humans who feel it is their inalienable right to bug the rest of us.

When I ran for council several years ago, I strongly suggested a plan for a city-wide youth program based on sound democratic principles. We could start there, then work into democratic related community programs involving adults. I have long said that any city should be divided into sections or units with those units having some official degree of control over what happens in that neighborhood, plus affecting close communication with city government, as well.

Futch vs. Kinney

Copy of a letter to —
Ed Kinney:

Your recent campaign statements on my position on growth in the Livermore-Amador Valley are misleading. You said that the Futch position on growth north of I-580, and on the water service pipe to the Chabot College Campus north of I-580, was the same as Don Miller's. The record shows that I supported utilities to the junior college site which provides more than adequate water and sewage for the area. It also shows that I have supported growth north of I-580 consistent with The General Plan growth rate of 2 per cent. In both cases my position was sharply criticized by Councilman Miller.

I believe that each candidate for the Zone 7 Board has the right to express his own position. The public has a right to either agree or not to agree. I would not presume to state Ed Kinney's position, and I hope that in the future you will refrain from incorrectly stating my position.

Archer Futch
(Kinney is a former Pleasanton mayor, Futch is a past mayor of Livermore, and both are now Zone 7 candidates. — Editor) more than my best effort that afternoon and returned the favor with cruel and inhuman punishment.

And while his tactic did not make me try any less hard through the rest of the season, I certainly must have let down some the next day.

Yet I have always regarded Dud as one of the great coaches of all time. When he was top dog at San Jose the Spartans ruled college class football with an iron hand. They scored in double figures every game and sometimes Dud had to clean his bench to keep the score from moving into three digits.

The fault was no doubt mine. There are folks who are born to be campus heroes, others to be clowns.

The latter role was created for this old man, I fear. That song writer at the turn of the century who wrote, "Some fellows look and find the sunshine, I always look and find the rain, some fellows make a winning sometime, I never even make a gain," was waiting for me to come along when he put the lyrics on "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows."

Not that I'm complaining. Life has been pretty good on the whole for this old man.

I'll get around to counting my blessings any minute now.

Let's see. I've got a beautiful wife, a faithful dog, a golf course in my back yard and I usually get one good picture out of a roll of film when I go scuba diving.

But dammit, why does there always have to be a guy around who kicks me in the teeth right after I have put the best effort I have into a job? Never mind. I'll live with it. But when it happens I figure I've got a right to let down just a hair. Now haven't I?

round the town

I see where my good friend Jerry Brown has resolved the problem of the vacant governor's mansion in Sacramento.

"I will choose two families at random from throughout the state, and invite them to share the executive mansion, which I do not wish to occupy personally because it is not in keeping with my lower expectations," our beloved governor said.

The proposal to select two "average California families" to occupy that $1.3 million mansion was of course immediately hailed as "one of the most thoughtful moves by a California chief executive in 50 years."

"Furthermore," the chairman of the 'Brown for President' campaign committee added, "this proves that our beloved governor wants nothing for himself that is not also available to your everyday, taxpaying, working - slob Californian."

I recognized that description immediately, of course, and quickly placed a call to friend Jerry's third-floor pad in Sacramento. Collect.

The governor accepts no collect calls and issues no autographed photos," a female voice at the other end advised the operator.

"But please tell this person that I am the everyday, taxpaying California slob that the governor has been looking for to occupy his vacant mansion," I explained to the operator.

"Oh all right," the female voice finally agreed, "I will accept the collect call. But keep it short, buster."

I hurriedly explained who I was, and that I was calling in response to friend Jerry's search for two families to occupy the executive mansion.

"You are the thirteenth nut to call this morning," Female Voice advised me. "Where do you people find these kooky stories? Things were never like this back on my peaceful straw mat in the Himalaya."

"Oh," I inquired, "are you from India? I have a distant cousin who went climbing there, once. You must miss your native land very much," I said, sympathetically.

"No, not the Indian Himalayas, you idiot," Female Voice said. "Himalaya, Mississippi. It's in the cotton belt. Four generations of my family lived there, until some guy convinced me I had a national duty to come out here and join Jerry Brown's staff. I'm now the governor's chief consultant on cotton pickin' problems. It pays $34,000 a year."

I said that it sounded like a very challenging job, and then guided the conversation back to the governor's quest for two everyday, working - slob Californians to share occupancy of the vacant $1.3 executive mansion on a bluff overlooking the American river.

"I guess I did recollect old Jerry saying something about that," Female Voice agreed. "But what makes you think you're one of the chosen families? This could be a very special honor, you know."

I quickly began to recite my qualifications — taxpayer in California for over 25 years; past president of Lions, former director with Jaycees and 20-30 Club, founder of the local branch of United Crusade, holder of the PTA Silver Pot Luck Pin.

"That's all very interesting, joker," Female Voice said. "But you gotta realize the governor of California can't just go handing over a $1.3 million mansion to any taxpaying slob who happens to be past president of the Lions I mean, what have you got to show us you're really THE typical Californian? I mean, how about your political affiliations, man, and where do you stand on welfare?"

I saw no reason to lie. The CHP would doubtless be checking out my story anyway. And so I told Female Voice everything.

"I voted Republican once, but that was before I saw the light," I pleaded, passionately. "And I was asked to serve on the county welfare commission, but that was also the year I voted Republican, so I was disqualified, of course."

"No, no, joker," Female Voice replied, disgustedly. "I mean like when's the last time you were ON welfare? We can't have folks living in the governor's mansion who ain't never known poverty, you know what I mean?"

But what about my 25 years as a taxpayer? How about my Silver PTA pin?

"You just don't seem to get the picture," Female Voice said. "The governor wants two typical California families chosen from HIS mainstream. How would it look to his Low Expectations Campaign Promise if he picked some taxpaying joker like you?"

"And I'll just bet you're a whitey, too," she added. "From suburbia?" I was beginning to feel terribly ashamed. To think that I ever imagined I was the typical Californian who should be chosen to occupy the governor's mansion!

"Don't get to feeling sorry for yourself," Female Voice admonished me. "We all can't be the chosen ones. Now would you mind getting off this line? I got a call coming in from Mr. Jose Washington Lincoln in Oakland, and he sounds like our kind of man."

Community rodeo parade participation asked

LIVERMORE — Community participation is stressed this year by the Livermore Jaycees for the annual Rodeo Parade which will be held on Saturday, June 12.

In addition to the traditional competitive (and non-competitive) categories in the parade, a special Bicentennial category has been introduced with a sweepstakes trophy going to the entry with the best Bicentennial representation.

Parade entry blanks will be mailed out this week to last year's participants and also will be made available to the public at large in local western stores. Entry deadline is May 10.

Some 53 different categories will be featured at the parade and participants need not only ride through on horses but are encouraged to walk and even dance.

All mounted horse competition will be judged according to California State Horsemen's Association rules (copies of the rules are available in western stores) and all other competitive entries will be judged by the National Association of Parade and Contest Judges.

Fifty-two of the competitive categories will award trophies for first place and ribbons for second and third places. Float competition, however, will involve cash prizes.

First place in the professional float competition will be $150, second place, $100. In the amateur float competition, first place will be $100, second place, $50. A third category will be created for organizations with $100 awarded to first place and $50 for second place.

The community is urged to participate in the parade simply by dressing in a costume just for the fun of it.

Parade competition categories include floats, bands, drill teams, color guards, majorette corps, antique cars, comic entries; pooper-scooper (need not perform duties), western working and fancy dressed man and woman, horse and pony drawn vehicles, silver mounted and local western.

For more information, either write the Jaycees

c/o P.O. Box 524 in Livermore, 94550, or contact Gib Souza, 443-2264 or 443-7231.

Cowbelles cook-off scheduled April 24

Deadline for entries in the Beef Cook-Off sponsored by the Alameda County Cowbelles is Saturday, April 24.

The annual contest is open to persons in Alameda County over 21 years of age, with no professional status in the field, that is, no home economics teachers, chefs or nutritionists on a salary.

Winners of the contest for Alameda and San Mateo counties will compete in a seven-county area cook-off at which two finalists will be chosen to participate in the state cook-off. California state finalist receives all-expenses-paid trip to Salt Lake City, Utah, to the national contest.

Recipes must be submitted in duplicate, be specific using product not brand names, with a description of how the recipe is served and the amount and cost of servings.

A panel of judges will screen entries and notify those chosen as finalists May 8. Finalists will then prepare the dish for the judges' sampling and final decision.

Entries may be mailed to the Alameda County Cowbelles, 1750 Linden St., Livermore, Calif. 94550.

On sports

Rough row
for crews

Mike Zampa

There are nautical variations to the following story. This one concerns the crew of an eight-oared racing shell.

It is late one warm summer morning, and the craft slips quietly into the estuary landing. Through his megaphone, the coxswain speaks to heaving bodies slumped forward on the oars.

"I have good news and bad news," he intones with a high-pitched, grating voice. "First — the good. There'll be an extra hour's rest at the mid-day break. Now — the bad. Your coach wants to water ski after lunch."

Crewing (next to sports writing, of course) is the endeavor requiring the greatest expenditure of energy for the smallest return. Galley slaves had it easier than racing crews do.

At least they got room and board and opportunity for travel to foreign ports of call. They didn't have to carry their vessel on their backs, either.

The folks who pull oars in a race may be the best conditioned of all athletes. Their training regimen is murderous, their eating habits curbed to hold down the shell's cargo tonnage. Oarsmen spend hours daily upon still waters, straining heavily against nature's drag, but careful not to disturb the surface with a choppy stroke. They train just as hard on dry land, running or pumping iron in the weight room.

For all of that torture the reward is pitiful — the opportunity to dump that little coxswain and his funny mouthpiece in the lake. That's all.

No one hears about the crew. They're never mentioned in the sports section unless it's on the back page with the baseball box scores. There are no scholarships or under-the-counter Cadillacs for college oarsmen. Tradition dictates that the best crews come from the east, though infringement of western schools like California and Washington universities is turning tradition into fable.

Another crumbling stereotype is that the sport belongs to men. Though it may be the most vigorous of all, women are competing too.

The best from the West Coast will be at Lake Merritt in Oakland beginning Saturday for the South West Regional Championships, sponsored by the National Women's Rowing Association. Competition in eight and four-oared shells, singles, doubles and pairs will continue for two days, beginning at 7 a.m.

There will be 20 events, some broken into heats, with six boats reaching the championship finals in every event.

One of the eight-oar crews will come from Mission Bay Rowing Association in San Diego. Two of the team members are twins, Margaret and Emily Burden of Livermore.

Both are juniors at San Diego State. They began crewing for the school as freshmen. Their previous experience on water was limited to sailboats at Del Valle Reservoir.

For two seasons the Burdens rowed for San Diego State. They signed up originally on a whim, but became engrossed with the sport.

This season they found the atmosphere on the Aztec crew too low key. Understandably there isn't much in the budget for women's crew. About 20 turned out for the team, but not all held the Burden's enthusiasm.

As a result, the twins dropped the college squad, and joined Mission Bay's team, coached by a famous name in crewing, Pete Mallory.

He's provided Margaret and Emily with just the atmosphere they missed in college. Their crew begins training on San Diego's Mission Bay at 4:30 a.m. daily. Workouts last until 6:30. They're followed by two miles of running.

The Burdens are so serious about their commitment to Mallory that they crewed at a Newport Beach race before Christmas after contracting mononucleosis. They were exhausted when the race ended, but both are over their illness and definitely planning to race at Lake Merritt. Margaret and Emily are 5-7, 120-pounders. They're racing in a lightweight boat.

The Mission Bay team is hoping for a good performance in Oakland this weekend as a prelude to the national women's championships this June in Long Beach.

Following that the twins will return home for the summer. They work with Livermore's recreation department. A brother, Tom, teaches sailing for the Rec Dept. Their father, Willard, races sailboats.

Up to now the Burdens have crewed exclusively on eight-oared shells. Training has been extensive for the upcoming nationals.

Once they are out of the way, however, they plan to team up in a two-women boat. The alternatives are a two, or four-oared shell. The side benefits are boggling.

Think of commercial endorsements alone for Double Mint Gum.

Rec basketball
pairings decided

The championship picture cleared up in Pleasanton Recreation Basketball this week with the outcome of some final regular season games.

Playoff pairings have American Pools meeting First Bank in the D Division. Elby's and Val Vista Liquors play in C Division and in the B Division, Dean's Restaurant will meet Cheese Factory.

In final games Val Vista went to overtime and edged the Jaycee Snuffs, 40-37. Jim Kabrich scored 17 and Mike Santiago, 10, for Val Vista. The Snuffs' Bill Sheridan had 15 points.

Early foul trouble cost Allied Brokers a 47-33 decision to Elby's. Elby's Ron Rodriguez had 17 points, and Don Murray, 12.

Pat Turtle and Tom Miller combined for 28 points as First Bank crunched Western Realty, 50-42. Western's John Rajala scored 16 points. Chip Christian had 11.

In overtime, the Has Beens trimmed the Jaycee Studs, 44-43. Dwain Glossup paced the winners with 18 points. Pete Iverson contributed 15. Jim Mahern and Bill Davidson each had 12 for the losers.

Cowboys stay undefeated

Livermore High kept its perfect EBAL track record intact yesterday by whipping Granada, 80½ - 55½ on the Cowboys' oval.

With three meets remaining, the Pokes sport a 4-0 record, with key meets against Dublin and San Ramon coming up next week. The Mats' evened their league record at 2-2.

A bevy of school and field records were set in the varsity and girls' competition, along with many personal seasonal bests.

Granada's Scott Campbell raced to a 39.3 in the 330-yard low hurdles, edging out Livermore's Mike West. West's second place time of 39.6 set a Livermore High School record.

Kelly Hardiman turned in a personal best by clearing 6-4 in the high jump for Livermore and winning the long jump with a leap of 20½.

Steve Jens ran a 10.2 100-yard dash and Dean Lindsey leaped 42-4 in the triple jump to bring home important first place victories for the Pokes.

Other Pokes firsts included Richard Ford in the pole vault (12-6), Mark Tewes in the discus (144-10), and Mike Nagel in the 880 (2:02.3).

Boyd Tarin, running in his first EBAL meet of the season for Livermore, clocked a 9:51.6 two-mile, nearly 30 seconds over his lifetime best. It was good enough for a first, though, as Victor Aguayo and Steve Sinchak completed a Livermore sweep by finishing second and third.

Drew Watson was a double winner for Granada, taking the 220-yard dash in 23.6 and the 440-yard dash in 52.4.

Granada's Rick Bosch won the shot put with a fine heave of 50-5. Scott Kusko won the mile in 4:30.6 and Campbell took the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.1 for Granada.

Granada's 440-yard relay team of Steve Jaeger, Watson, John Walden and Joel Strickland beat out Livermore by a tenth of a second, winning in 45.2.

Livermore's girls took a big step towards the championship by nipping the Matadors 51-49. Paula Eng took three events, (100, 80-yard low hurdles and the 220) and picked up an important second place in the long jump, the final event of the day.

Granada's girls set six school records. Most notable were Kathy Honour in the long jump with a leap of 17-10½ and Kathy Lyons in the mile (5:28.9).

Livermore's Laura Benhard set a Livermore school record by clearing 5-2 in the high jump.

Livermore's frosh-soph team knocked off undefeated Granada, 73-63.

Monte Vista
tops Dublin

Despite the fact Monte Vista and Dublin High Schools are virtually eliminated from any championship hopes, the two can optimistically look forward to the upcoming EBAL track meet.

The Mustangs emerged with their second victory against two setbacks, sneaking past the Gaels, 71-65 in Alamo yesterday.

Dublin's Chuck Gangnuss and Dan Harvey, and the Mustangs' Bill Fowler, Brad Curry and Casey Hensley may possibly go places after the league meet.

Gangnuss, also credited with running legs on the Gaels' winning relay teams, burned to a 38.9 clocking in the 330 lows.

Red Wing breezes

Red Wing Shoes pitchers limited Columbus Realty to three base hits and fashioned an 8-1 victory in Granada major league baseball.

Bob Peterson and Kevin Trudeau teamed up to strike out 14 Red Wings. Peterson singled and doubled and knocked in two runs. Cam Garcia and Jerry Joachim also drove in runs.

Jeff Holder, Steve Johnson and John Covey singled for Columbus.

Granada Pharmacy crushed Livermore Locker, 22-7. Mike Miller and Robert Foreman each drove in two runs for the A's. Tony Saputo and Steve Arrington also had RBIs.

The Pirates' Mike Lynn singled home two runs Eric Hudson made a fine catch in right field.

Pleasanton

Televue's Kerry Mueller not only pitched a no-hitter, he singled in the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning Wednesday to produce a 2-1 triumph over Valley Realty in Pleasanton National major league baseball.

Mueller's single was the only hit of the game. Though he fired the no-hitter, his team trailed until it scored twice in the sixth inning.

Gary Morgan went the distance for Valley, striking out 10 batters.

The Double A Reds defeated the Cubs, 5-4. Scott Jensen of the Cubs homered and drove in three runs. Tim Dvorcek doubled and Dave Dwyer scored two hits. Pat Scott, Scott Jensen, Jeff Hill and Dale Yaarmaiter played well in the field.

The Triple A Cubs defeated the Reds, 5-2.

Warriors beaten

Detroit evened up its NBA playoff series with Golden State at 1-1 last night, taking a 123-111 decision over the host Warriors. Curtis Rowe and Bob Lanier combined for 64 points to spark the Piston victory. Rowe scored 33 points and Lanier tallied 31.

pairings decided

The championship picture cleared up in Pleasanton Recreation Basketball this week with the outcome of some final regular season games.

Playoff pairings have American Pools meeting First Bank in the D Division. Elby's and Val Vista Liquors play in C Division and in the B Division, Dean's Restaurant will meet Cheese Factory.

In final games Val Vista went to overtime and edged the Jaycee Snuffs, 40-37. Jim Kabrich scored 17 and Mike Santiago, 10, for Val Vista. The Snuffs' Bill Sheridan had 15 points.

Early foul trouble cost Allied Brokers a 47-33 decision to Elby's. Elby's Ron Rodriguez had 17 points, and Don Murray, 12.

Pat Turtle and Tom Miller combined for 28 points as First Bank crunched Western Realty, 50-42. Western's John Rajala scored 16 points. Chip Christian had 11.

In overtime, the Has Beens trimmed the Jaycee Studs, 44-43. Dwain Glossup paced the winners with 18 points. Pete Iverson contributed 15. Jim Mahern and Bill Davidson each had 12 for the losers.

Bright outlook for trout season

Charlie Litz

Streams will be mostly low and clear for the opening of California's general trout fishing season Saturday, promising near ideal conditions for the few million anglers expected at streamside.

The Department of Fish and Game said that streams will be at midsummer flow conditions in many cases and access will be far better than normal because of the mild winter and early spring.

Also improved because of weather and water conditions was stocking, which was expected to reach many waters not normally stocked for the opening.

L.D. Clendenen and R.C. Heinitz have announced that the LLLRA Spring Bass Derby will be held on May 1. Eligible contestants will be the LLLRA members and their immediate families, plus the spouse of son, daughter, sister, brother, or the father- or mother-in-law. These limitations are somewhat different from last year.

Prizes will be offered for the largest striped bass or largest catfish. There will be prizes for juniors, and door prizes. Only one prize per person will be awarded. You must have a current LLLRA activity card, and a bass derby ticket. Tickets are $1.50.

Weigh-in will be held only at Bethel Harbor, Bethel Island, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

For more information, contact Clendenen or Heinitz.

Another interesting fishing derby will be going on from May 1 through 8 in the delta area.

Chuck Philippart (Delta Sportsman) reports that is the time for the Bethel Island Bass Derby. A $2 ticket will get you in the derby as well as give you a chance for the drawing for one-half side of a beefalo.

If you're not interested in the fishing, a drawing ticket only is $1. There will be a big batch of prizes: for the biggest striper, next biggest, and so on. Color TV sets, a boat, fish finders and numerous other goodies will be given away. Only striped bass will be eligible for prizes.

A dinner-dance will be the attraction on Saturday evening, May 8. Tickets for the dinner and dance will be $4.50, and only 300 will be sold, so if you're interested you'd better act soon!

Chuck said he took a few hours off from tending store, and in a short time he boated a 10 and 12 pounder. Delicious filleted.

Bing Crosby, the singer, is also Bing Crosby, the avid outdoorsman and conservationist. Crosby says he was nicknamed "Bing" at the age of seven because he was a fan of a newspaper comic strip called "Bingville Bugle."

"I got interested in conservation," he recalled recently, as reported in California Wildlife, "when I was a lad, up in the Pacific Northwest, and my father fished ardently, and I was allowed to go along."

Girls' Cup draws local teams

The Valley has been monopolizing girls soccer competition lately. Or at least it seems like it as local squads from Pleasanton, Dublin and San Ramon are occupying eight of the ten slots in the finals of the Girls Soccer State Cup tourney which will be held tomorrow in Redwood City.

Pleasanton United's under-12 squad will kick off tournament action at 10:00 a.m. against the San Jose Bobcats, while the Pleasanton Patriots will face Dublin United for the under-16 championship at 11:30. An all-Pleasanton battle will begin at 1:30 as the Pleasanton Panthers and Pleasanton United will be vying for the under-10 crown, and at 2:30 Pleasanton United and Concord's Cal Hurricanes will decide the under-14 championship. In the final game of the day, the under-18 Pleasanton United club will meet the San Ramon Superiors at 4:30.

In under-12 competition, defending State Cup champion and Fresno Invitational Tournament winner Pleasanton United will be pitting an "outstanding defense" and a potent offense against a tough San Jose team. The Pleasanton squad carries a 54-9 record in only two years of competition, while only allowing one goal to be scored against them in five games at the Fresno tourney.

All seventeen players are excellent — we have strong subs," comments coach Gale Dolsby.

Members of the team include goalies Connie Hobbs, Shandy Holleman, Denise Stennette, fullbacks Denise Winter, Lori Estes, Maria Merucci, Kerry Kent, halfbacks Katie Garrigan, Regan Dolsby, Karen Broderick, Sherrill Hamilton and talented subs Jamie McEntee, Cheryl Abreu, Kathleen Hart, Lezlie Lortz, Tracy Spence and Cheryl Young.

"It'll take our best effort to win," says Dolsby, "but we've got the talent, and if we play as a team, we'll do the job."

In the under-16 contest, Pleasanton's Patriots, with a record of 15-1-2, will be facing Dublin United, which carries a 10-5-2 mark. Although the Patriots have defeated the Dublin squad three times in previous contests, Pleasanton manager Judy Bricker says, "It won't be easy. They're a good team," she adds.

The Patriots will be relying upon offensive standouts Jamie Watson and Kelly McCole, while defensive star and goalie Terri Pompilio should add to the Pleasanton threat.

Dublin United coach Scott cited center fullback Carla Loder as one of her star players, while Angela Loder holds top scoring honors.

The District III three champion Dublin club also took second place in the Fresno Invitational Tournament, and managed to win a berth in the finals with only ten players.

"We'll do pretty good," predicts coach Scott. "We have a lot of confidence. They are a good team and we're ready for a good, hard fight."

Pleasanton United's multi-talented squad will be ready for a tough battle against the under-10 Pleasanton Panthers. The Pleasanton United team has defeated the Panthers once, but has tied them twice.

"My team is well-rounded," commented United coach Jeri Bilet-nikoff.

The Panthers will be utilizing a new game plan against their opponents. "We've changed our whole plan around," explains coach George Martin, "We have a different defense and offense, along with new positions. What we have now is totally different and it's working out beautifully."

Martin also had nothing but praise for the Pleasanton Girls Soccer Association board, saying, "Our teams are better than average, and we owe it to the PGSA. Pleasanton will probably be in the championships year after year."

In the under-14 game, Pleasanton United will be taking a shot at Las Vegas Silver State Invitational Tournament champion Concord's Cal Hurricanes. The Pleasanton club holds a 19-0-1 record and is also the Fresno Invitational champion. Members of the squad include Julie Fernandez, Kim Fruzzetti, Lisa Lovell, Lori Fleming, Maria Pompilio, Julie Bigger, Celeste Bowley, Kristy Crow, Stacey Smiley, Lisa Thomas, Kim Valin, Debbie Stromer, Angela Carlos, Ann Peterson, a and Lori Gilliam Mary Hansen, who injured a hamstring muscle, will tentatively be playing tomorrow.

Goalie Pompilio holds an impressive .028 average of goals scored against her, while Thomas, Fruzzetti and Hansen are top scorers.

Pleasanton United will battle San Ramon's Superiors for the under-18 crown. "We play well together defensively and offensively," comments Pleasanton coach George Oxsen.

Oxsen cites first year players Kim Libert and Shelly Massa as outstanding players.

Net practice

Practice for the Pleasanton Jr. Davis Cup tennis team begins Monday at Amador Valley High School.

Pleasanton boys are eligible for the 12 and under and 15 and under teams. Experience is needed for the older team.

The program is sponsored by the Pleasanton Tennis Club and the Pleasanton Rotary Club.

Competition comes from other Jr. Davis Cup teams in Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

For information, attend the first practices Monday. The 12's meet at 4 p.m., the 15's, at 5.

Physicals

Physical examinations are required for players in both the American and National Little Leagues in Pleasanton.

Players who have not as yet had a chance to obtain such an examination may do so Sunday at the Valley Family Health Care Center, 9260 Alcosta Blvd in San Ramon.

The fee is $5. Players will be examined from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Players with names from A to H will have physicals from 10 a.m. to noon, those from I to P will have examinations from 1 to 3 and those from Q to Z from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

All players in Little League in Pleasanton, Dublin and San Ramon are eligible for this clinic. Players should league medical forms.

Big League

Pleasanton National Little League will hold Big League tryouts Saturday and Sunday, and again May 2, 11 a.m., at Foothill High School.

Players ages 16-18 are eligible. They must attend two workouts.

For information, call 846-2751.

Tryouts

Pleasanton American Little League will hold tryouts for Big League baseball, ages 16-18, Saturday, 8:30 a.m., at Camp Parks, and again Saturday, May 1, at noon.

LL parade

Pleasanton American Little League opening day parade and ceremonies will be held Saturday at 8 a.m. The parade will begin from Harvest Park School traveling down Valley Avenue to the Pleasanton Youth Sports Park ending at the new senior field.

Mr. Toyota Man: YES?
Do your '76 Toyotas
get better gas mileage than ever before?

And are you trading like never before?

YES!

YES!

California EPA test figures show that Toyota's '76 models get even better gas mileage than last year's models. For example, the Toyota Corolla five-speed with 4.1 axle ratio got 36 mpg. on the highway and 20 mpg. in town in California EPA tests. EPA test results are estimates. The actual mileage you get depends upon personal driving habits, the condition of your car and optional equipment.

But this year's Toyotas give you more than good gas mileage. There's a better selection. Plus more extras at no extra cost. Like steel belted radial tires on all Toyota cars. Take your old gas hog to Mr. Toyota Man. He's ready to trade now.

AMADOR VALLEY
JOINT UNION
HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT
ELECTION NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the voters of the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District of Alameda County and Contra Costa County, State of California, that in accordance with the provisions of the Education Code of the State of California governing such elections, an election will be held on Tuesday, June 8, 1976, in said district, at which time there will be submitted to the voters of said district the following measure:

MEASURE

Shall there be authorized increases in the revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance in the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District as follows: in the amount of Ninety-one and 21/100 Dollars ($91.21), such increase to be effective for the school year 1976-1977 only; in the amount of One Hundred Eighty-two and 41/100 Dollars ($182.41), such increase to be effective for the school year 1977-1978 only; and in the amount of Two Hundred Seventy-three and 61/100 Dollars ($273.61), such increase to be effective for the school years commencing 1978-1979 and thereafter, the revenues of which are to be used for the maintenance and operation of the schools?

These increases would constitute increases per unit of average daily attendance as follows: for the school year 1976-1977 from approximately One Thousand Three Hundred Twenty-five and 76/100 Dollars ($1,325.76) to approximately One Thousand Four Hundred Three and 94/100 Dollars ($1,403.94); for the school year 1977-1978 from approximately One Thousand Three Hundred Seventy-four and 61/100 Dollars ($1,374.61) to approximately One Thousand Four Hundred Fifty-seven and 02/100 Dollars ($1,557.02); and for the school year 1978-1979 from approximately One Thousand Four Hundred Forty-five and 45/100 Dollars ($1,445.45) to approximately One Thousand Seven Hundred Fourteen and 06/100 Dollars ($1,714.06).

These proposed increases of the revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance set forth above will authorize increases in the estimated maximum general purpose tax rate of the district for the school year 1976-1977 from approximately $2.345 to approximately $2.3827; for the school year 1977-1978 from approximately $2.0982 to approximately $2.5452; and for the school year 1978-1979 from approximately $2.1142 to approximately $2.7410, for each One Hundred Dollars ($100) of assessed valuation of property.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda and the Board of Supervisors of Contra Costa County, respectively, at the request of the governing board of said district and of the County Superintendent of Schools of Alameda County, the consolidated primary election to be held on June 8, 1976, throughout the State of California insofar as the territory in which said elections are to be held is the same, to wit, within the boundaries of the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District of Alameda County and Contra Costa County, within the territory affected by said consolidation, to wit, said Amador Valley Joint Union High School District, in the portion of said district lying within Alameda County, the election precincts, polling places, voting booths and officers of election shall, in every case, be the same as those established and provided for said consolidated primary election by the Board of Supervisors of Contra Costa County, and in the portion of said district lying in Contra Costa County, the election precincts, polling places, voting booths and officers of election shall, in every case, be the same as those established and provided for said consolidated primary election by the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County, and the Board of Supervisors of Contra Costa County, respectively, are hereby authorized to do and will canvass or cause to be canvassed the returns of said district election at the time and in the manner required by law.

Ann Landers Can't break the habit

Dear Ann Landers: I am worried about my 21-year-old sister. She wants to take LSD to lose weight. Actually, she's not fat but she thinks she is.

Her dream is to be so skinny her hip bones will stick out like the models in fashion magazines. Her two best friends are practically skin and bones. They take LSD and she wants to try it, too.

I am only 17 and Sis doesn't pay much attention to me. (She doesn't think you know anything either.) But maybe if she sees in print exactly what LSD does to people, she will get scared of the idea.

Please, Ann, you have the facts. I don't. Can you tell my sister the dangers of LSD? — Frightened For Her

Dear Frightened: For openers, your sister needs psychiatric help.

Girls (almost never boys) who are not overweight but have a mad desire to be very skinny have an illness called anorexia nervosa. This could be her central problem.

You've heard of knuckle-cracking. I'm sure. Well, I am what you might call a bit of a freak. I can crack not only my knuckles, but my toes, my knees, ankles, wrists, and my neck. Yesterday I discovered I can crack my nose.

At first it was funny, but now I am getting on people's nerves. I wish I could stop it, but I can't. This all started about three months ago when some girls asked me to do it at a party. Now I can't quit. Any suggestions? — Out Of Control

Dear Out: Develop a substitute — like standing on your toes and reaching for the ceiling, or spreading your fingers apart as far as you can — something physical.

This might break the neurotic compulsion to crack all those joints, which is what you have, Bub.

Students to view BART operations

Students of numerous high schools from six Bay Area counties will participate in a special one-day workshop entitled "BART Experience Day" at BART's Oakland headquarters today.

The students will come from schools in Alameda, Contra Costa, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, and Marin counties.

Sponsored by BART, the all day session will offer students a first hand, in-depth look behind the scenes of the transit system's operations. The purpose of the program, which was initiated by BART board president Elmer Cooper of San Francisco, is to acquaint participants with the many and varied roles of public transportation, not only as a people mover, but as an active participant in all aspects of the community.

The "BART Experience Day" agenda will include meetings with General Manager Frank Herringer, members of the board and BART staff, a film on operations, a tour and briefing of the central control center, and several work sessions which will focus on specific aspects of BART operations.

The day will conclude with a student critique and question and answer period with BART directors and staff.

BART is continuing to offer the public a behind-the-scenes look at the transit system under the "Horizons on Display" tour program.

Due to public demand, these special tours are now being offered every Friday instead of the twice-monthly schedule as called for in the initial program.

"The tours have been extremely successful since we began them back in February," said BART passenger service officer Carole Hirose. "And we just couldn't accommodate all the requests on a twice-a-month basis."

The tours are generally scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m., Fridays only, at BART's Lake Merritt administration complex, 800 Madison St., Oakland. It is important that those interested in taking the tour should phone for reservations in advance — and also to confirm the plan.

Those taking the tour will visit the control center, see a short film in the board of directors room, and be briefed on the new transit system's dramatic beginnings, and evolution.

"We've found that these tours have been of great interest to out-of-town visitors as well as Bay Area residents," Hirose said.

The pre-arranged tour groups will meet with her or other passenger service representatives by the fountain located on the concourse course level of the station.

For further information, or tour reservations, call the BART Office of Passenger Service, 465-4100.

PLEASANTON JOINT SCHOOL DISTRICT ELECTION NOTICE
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN to the voters of the Pleasanton Joint School District of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, State of California, that in accordance with the provisions of the Education Code of the State of California governing such elections, an election will be held on Tuesday, June 8, 1976, in said district, at which time there will be submitted to the voters of said district the following measure:

Shall there be authorized increases in the revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance in the Pleasanton Joint School District as follows: in the amount of Seventy-nine and 81/100 Dollars ($79.81), such increase to be effective for the school year 1976-1977 only; and in the amount of One Hundred Fifty-nine and 61/100 Dollars ($159.61), such increase to be effective for the school years commencing 1977-1978 and thereafter, the revenues of which are to be used for the maintenance and operation of the schools?

These increases would constitute increases per unit of average daily attendance as follows: for the school year 1976-1977 from approximately One Thousand Forty-seven and 55/100 Dollars ($1,047.55) to approximately One Thousand One Hundred Twenty-seven and 36/100 Dollars ($1,127.36); and for the school year 1977-1978 from approximately One Thousand One Hundred Twenty-seven and 36/100 Dollars ($1,127.36) to approximately One Thousand Two Hundred Sixty-two and 07/100 Dollars ($1,262.07).

These proposed increases of the revenue limit per unit of average daily attendance set forth above will authorize increases in the estimated maximum general purpose tax rate of the district for the school year 1976-1977 from approximately $1.6337 to approximately $2.0607; and for the school year 1977-1978 from approximately $1.5753 to approximately $2.3931, for each One Hundred Dollars ($100) of assessed valuation of property.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Alameda and the Board of Supervisors of Contra Costa County, respectively, at the request of the governing board of said district and of the County Superintendent of Schools of Alameda County, said revenue limit increase election has been consolidated with the consolidated primary election to be held on June 8, 1976, throughout the State of California insofar as the territory in which said elections are to be held is the same, to wit, within the boundaries of the Pleasanton Joint School District of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties. Within the territory affected by said consolidation, to wit, said Pleasanton Joint School District, in the portion of said district lying within

Bevy of Blue Birds

Les Knott of Livermore's Veterans Administration Hospital is surrounded by a bevy of Blue Birds (the Campfire Girls variety) as he accepts books, magazines and puzzles they're donating as their second "Starbird" project. The second graders,

LUSD to expand program

LIVERMORE — The Livermore Unified School District will be including Rancho, Henry, Arroyo Seco and Rincon Elementary Schools in its spreading Early Childhood Education (ECE) program next year.

At that point, half the city's primary pupils (kindergarten through third grade) will have the benefit of more aides, books, materials and field trips that generous state ECE funding provides.

At present, Portola, Arroyo Mocho and Marilyn Avenue Schools have been phased into the ECE program in its three years of existence. The purpose of ECE is to give children individualized attention in the early years of school to get them off to a strong start.

Eventually, the state's long-range plan would give school districts money to spend at all grade levels in every school for the special project.

Livermore was able to almost double the district's ECE funding thanks to the good records of the first three schools that started the program. The state bases awards for the coming year on past performance, which in Livermore's case placed the district in the top one-fifth of all California school districts in quality of the ECE program.

The program is judged on amount of parent participation, home-school communication, planning, effectiveness of programs and many other points.

In other funding areas, the Livermore school board is expecting to receive $57,000 from the state for special reading services (Miller-Unruh Program) which will be supplemented with $50,000 of local money; $95,500 from the federal government for the ESEA Title I program to offer help to deprived children at Fifth Street and St. Michael's School; and an undetermined sum from the Feds for library books and materials under ESEA Title II Phase I, another federal program.

Honda Civic CVCC Sedan

Whether you choose the Honda Civic CVCC Sedan, Hatchback, 5 speed, or Station Wagon you get extras you don't pay extra for. Every Honda has rack and pinion steering, front wheel drive and independent Macpherson Strut Suspension. These features combine to provide an exceptionally stable ride and handling qualities normally found only in cars costing a great deal more. Then there's the reliable Honda CVCC Advanced Stratified Charge Engine. Meets all the 1976 emissions requirements without a catalytic converter. Doesn't need unleaded fuel and in EPA lab tests for highway driving the 4 speed got 42 mpg, the 5 speed got 43 mpg. Now what could be more beautiful than a '76 Honda. See them all in our showroom. Take a test ride... you'll like the experience.

Swim lessons start April 26

PLEASANTON — Swimming lessons for youngsters six and older will begin after school April 26, May 10 and May 26.

Classes for beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates, and swimmers are scheduled at 3:30 p.m., 4 p.m., and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday for two week periods. Class fee is $6.

Stroke class is for children six and older will begin April 26, May 10 and May 24 at 5 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. Monday through Friday. The class is for those children who already have basic swimming skills and wish to develop competitive swimming skills strokes — crawl, back crawl, breast stroke, and butterfly. Class fee is $6 for 10 lessons.

Lessons for pre-schoolers will begin April 26, May 10 and May 24 at 10 a.m., 10:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Ten lessons will cost $10. Proof of age is required at registration time. Pre-schoolers must be at least four years old.

Tot lessons begin May 10 and May 24 and are scheduled at 10 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Ten lessons cost $10. A parent or responsible adult must accompany each tot into the pool. Tots are those under four years old.

Registration for all programs may be completed during recreational swimming hours: April 24 to June 11, Saturday and Sunday, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.; May 10 to June 11, Monday through Friday, 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. Registration also may be completed Monday, Wednesday and Friday 10 a.m. to noon.

How did Ford Pinto get to be the best-selling wagon in the world? It was easy.

Easy to load.

Pinto MPG Squire Wagon

Easy on gas.

Easy to handle.

Easy to buy.

Easy to load
The easy-to-open liftgate at the rear is counter balanced. So, with a mere touch of the hand, it floats up and open... to over 57 cu. ft. of cargo space. The low, flat floor means easy loading, no high lifting.

Easy on gas
Pinto's thrifty yet peppy 2.3 liter 4-cylinder overhead cam engine is bigger than any of the leading imports. Yet it's rated 31 mpg highway, 20 mpg city. These are EPA estimates with manual transmission. Your actual mileage will vary depending on your car's condition, optional equipment and how and where you drive.

Easy to handle
Pinto's precise rack-and-pinion steering makes it easy to steer. Its turning circle is smaller than VW Rabbit, so Pinto's easy to park in the tightest spots.

Easy to buy
Pinto's price includes dual hydraulic brake system with front disc brakes, floor-mounted 4-speed manual transmission, solid state ignition, high-mileage 2.3 liter OHC engine, Ford Lifeguard Design Safety Features, and more. Add it up. You'll see why Pinto's the world's best-selling wagon.

*Base sticker price excluding title, taxes, destination charges, WSW tires ($53).
